THE TARIFF.

The defeat of the high tariff party at the polls seems to create a vast amount of surprise where no surprise is necessary. People supported the high tariff on two distinct propositions. One was that the prices of farm products were to be kept up, and the other that the cost of manufactured articles was to be brought down by the working of the high tariff. Eighteen years experience showed that neither result had been attained—therefore the people voted against a discredited policy. People generally did not vote for high tariff in the first place simply to enrich the manufacturers at the expense of the rest of the community; and when that was proven to be the net result of eighteen years of so-called protection they simply voted against it. For the farmer it was argued that the protective duty on manufactured articles would build up a home market for farm products, and that the duty on produce would preserve that home market for the Canadian farmer. But after purchasing home manufactures for eighteen years at protective prices the farmer still finds that the price of his produce is either fixed by open competition in the markets of the world, or is run down by over-production below actual cost. The reason is that the farmer cannot control production in order to keep within the demands of home consumption. He must farm for export or go out of business. Therefore his prices are not kept up by the tariff on agricultural products. As to manufactured articles, it was argued that protection would induce home competition which again would induce lower prices. But experience has shown that the manufacturers can and do combine to keep production below the requirements of consumption, so that they can still keep prices up to the limit which the tariff permits. That is the difference between the position of the farmer and the manufacturer regarding the tariff. The manufacturers can continue to secure to themselves the advantages of the protective features while the farmers cannot.

The course taken by the Mail-Empire in discussing the result of the recent elections, must be considered as a sufficient indication of the policy to be pursued by the conservative party. That policy evidently is to work up a race and religious agitation in the province of Ontario against the prospective premier Mr. Laurier. This is worthy of the men who two weeks ago declared themselves ready to sacrifice the rights of the English Protestants of Manitoba in order to catch the vote which, now that it has gone to Mr. Laurier, they declare to be a menace to the Dominion. Would the Quebec vote have been any less dangerous had it gone to support such a politician as Tupper in his alleged efforts to coerce Manitoba than it is in supporting a statesman such as Mr. Laurier in a policy of conciliation for Manitoba? As long as the Quebec vote kept the conservative party in power—and it was Quebec that did keep that party in power so long—Quebec was the mainstay of confederation; but when Quebec helps to place an honest man at the head of an honest government having an honest policy, forthwith Quebec becomes a danger to the state. This argument of the Mail-Empire may be taken as dividing fairly the respective policies of the conservative and liberal parties. The conservative policy is essentially sectionalism—the playing of province against province, race against race and creed against creed. That was the policy which under then existing circumstances and in the hands of a master, was successful for so many years. But the circumstances have changed and the master is dead. The policy of the liberal party is as essentially nationalism—a policy the essential idea of which is that the right of one province, race or creed does not necessarily mean wrong to any other—that there is room enough in Canada for all, and need and opportunity to work for the good of each, which is the good of all. This is the doctrine which the liberal leader has been preaching during the past years of sectional excitement, a doctrine which at first was scoffed at, but which has finally proven successful from one end of the country to the other—and it is well for Canada that it is so.

THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS.

The Commercial commenting on the elections says: In the West the result has come out fairly close to calculations, and the liberal party owe their victory first to Quebec and secondly to the West. British Columbia, which has always returned a solid government contingent, has elected four liberals out of a total of six members. In the Territories, which has also always returned a solid government support, but one government candidate was elected, and that one has a majority of only two, which will probably be changed to a minority on a recount. Manitoba never before sent more than a committee of one to assist the liberals, but now elects three members in opposition to the government. The school question and opposition to the high tariff were the principal features which lead to this result in the West. A remarkable feature of the campaign in the West was the promise from the premier himself, of large expenditures of money on public works. In these new regions, where public improvements are so urgently needed, these promises no doubt had a great effect, but not sufficient to overcome the liberal candidates entirely. Now that the elections are over, The Commercial may be permitted to express its belief that election promises of expenditures of this nature are extremely objectionable, and should be frowned upon by those who favor a clean contest.

The result of the elections in Manitoba would indicate on the surface that a large number of people here are in favor of the coercion policy of the conservative government. This is the only meaning which can be taken from the vote; but expressions of public opinion are often very misleading, and in the case of Manitoba, (and possibly it may be the same in Quebec), the vote certainly belies the actual feeling on the school question. The vote in Manitoba may be accounted for to some extent by the fact that many people considered the school question as practically dead, and that no further attempt would be made to pass a coercion bill, no matter which party carried the day. Secondly, two liberal candidates were defeated by the advent of a third party candidate, running on practically the same platform as the liberals. While the patrons did not succeed in electing a candidate, they succeeded in splitting the vote against coercion and in favor of tariff reform, thus ensuring conservative victories. As for coercion with Manitoba declaring apparently (but not really) in favor of coercion, with the Quebec vote solidly arrayed on one side of the house and with many conservatives committed to coercion, the position of parliament will be more favorable to the passage of a coercive measure than it was before dissolution, if such a bill should be introduced.

As to the effect of the change on the country, it should on the whole be beneficial; and should be beneficial to the party which now retire in opposition. A change of government occasionally seems necessary to the welfare of the country, and a party too long in power is very liable to degenerate. At any rate the governing party is sure in time to become laden with barnacles who can only be shook off by a term in opposition.

Regarding the tariff, the Commercial did not expect that any radical change will be made. The liberal policy, as declared is for revenue tariff, but regard must be had for existing conditions. The greatest care will have to be exercised in revising the tariff and changes will have to be made gradually and slowly. The leading men of the liberal party have given assurance of their recognition of the necessity for caution and moderation in revising the tariff. The trade policy of Canada has been brought more into line with the imperial policy regarding closer trade with the empire.

What the liberal policy regarding the West will be, is the feature of interest here. The government has made no special effort to develop the West for years, but on the eve of the elections great things were promised in the way of public works to develop the country. These promises of course now go by the board. The liberals have promised nothing specifically. The liberal party has always had the blame of having failed to recognize the value of the West, and of opposing everything in the interest of the development of the West. The Commercial will not discuss the justification or otherwise for this belief. Just here we may say, however, that the liberals will now have an opportunity of showing what truth there is in this oft-repeated contention. The leaders of the party should consider the wisdom of riding their party of this stigma, by entering upon a vigorous policy for the development of Western Canada. They are not, we repeat, bound by any election promises, but performances will be more to the point than promises made to influence an election contest.

The second annual convention of the Northern Alberta Christian Endeavor Union held last Friday, was attended by a large number of endeavorers and the general public. The proceedings opened at 7 o'clock a. m. with prayer meetings held simultaneously in the Methodist church, Edmonton, led by R. J. Manson, and in the Presbyterian church, South Edmonton, led by Rev. A. Macdonald. These early services were well attended and much appreciated by those present.

At 9:30 a. m. the annual business meeting of the union was held in the Methodist church, South Edmonton. The president, Miss Taylor, in the chair. Reports were presented from the various societies affiliated with the union, each one showing an increase of membership over last year and all speaking of the good work done by the societies. The election of officers resulted as follows: J. H. Macdonald, president; Miss Rogers, vice-president; Miss Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

At 10:30 the morning session of the convention was opened in the name church under the presidency of Miss Taylor. The session was opened with devotional exercises followed by the president's address, in which Miss Taylor welcomed all the endeavorers, spoke gratefully of the work done during the past and encouraged them to go forward and do more next year. Papers followed by discussions were read as follows: "How can we increase the usefulness of the local union," by S. Chivers Wilson; "How to arouse and maintain the interest of the society," by Miss Short; "Winning association members," by Miss Osborn. These papers were fully discussed and evidently appreciated by the convention. Miss Short's paper was a well written, thoughtful paper. Miss Osborn's showed a thorough knowledge of the best methods of winning association members.

The afternoon session opened at 2:30 in the Baptist church, Edmonton, Rev. A. Macdonald presiding. The first paper "The pledge, its benefits and dangers," by Miss Osborn, was followed by a discussion. The paper on the "Relation of the Christian Endeavor movement to missions," by Miss Davis, and an interesting address on "Christian culture," by Rev. D. G. McQueen was followed by the question drawer. This elicited many curious and interesting questions and drew considerable information in the answers.

The evening session was held in the Presbyterian church, Edmonton, under the presidency of Rev. A. Forbes. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises and a song service of about half an hour's duration. The paper on the "History of the endeavor movement," by D. S. MacKenzie could not be presented. "Systematic giving," by Mrs. T. Bellamy, was an exhaustive paper well rendered and backed in every argument presented by scriptural authority. The general impression, created by the views on giving as presented by Mrs. Bellamy, was good. The paper was followed by a special collection in aid of the suffering Armenians. "Things that hinder individual, and united endeavor," by J. H. Macdonald was the next paper, followed by an address in "Christian citizenship," by Rev. C. B. Freeman, who said that a Christian should be a good citizen and take his full share of the responsibilities devolving on citizens. A Christian should always be a good citizen, but it was hard to believe that a bad citizen could be a good Christian. Christians should be law abiding, law enforcing, and law making citizens. On these three points the speaker gave several illustrations. He expressed his pleasure that the recent election had shown that the old idea of slavishly voting for party had been removed and Canadians had voted for men not party in almost every case.

Solos at this service were sung by W. MacAdam and Miss Evans, and a quartet, by Misses Richardson and Rogers and Messrs. Kelly and Evans. The convention closed with the mizpah benediction at 10:30 p. m. The audiences throughout the day were large and took great interest in the proceedings.

GENERAL NEWS.

Logan, who defeated Minister Dickey, is 27 years of age, the youngest member elected.

In Mr. Laurier's following in the new parliament are 37 French Canadian members out of a total of 117 or thereabouts. The proportion is less than the proportion of French Canadians in the whole population of the Dominion. Of the 46 followers of the liberal leader elected in Quebec ten are British Canadians.

A dispatch from Wilkesbarre, Pa., says: His almost a settled fact that of the small army of men which entered the ill-fated twin shaft at Pittston, on Saturday night, not one survived. Not only is every approach to their dark tomb barricaded by enormous masses of rock and debris, but it is known that in the mine there is a large quantity of water which is increasing in volume with every minute. Thus, the chances of recovering their bodies are more remote than ever.

Lethbridge News: On Saturday afternoon last the first batch of the Cree Indians, who are being brought back from the United States, arrived here, a special train being employed to bring them. There were 110 Indians and 186 cayuses, which with their teepees, wagons and dogs made quite a train load. On Monday morning another train load arrived, consisting of 96 Indians and 166 cayuses. They left by C. P. R. to-day for their reservations in Assiniboia and Saskatchewan.

Toronto Globe. The new administration will have many difficulties to contend with, but it has one advantage at least: agreement upon a policy which conduces to the amicable settlement of the Manitoba school question and its removal from the field of Federal politics. It will accept the invitation of the Manitoba government and legislature for a thorough inquiry into the educational conditions of the province. This will not be a hurried attempt to patch up a truce in the midst of active hostilities, such as was made during the past session. It will be, as we trust, a comprehensive inquiry, in which the desires of the minority as well as of the majority, the conditions existing in various parts of the province, the educational requirement of the country, the promotion of western interests, and the settlements which have been arrived at in the Maritime provinces will all be patiently and thoroughly considered.

BY-LAW NO. 116.

A By-Law to authorize the Municipality of the Town of Edmonton to subscribe for shares to the amount of $50,000.00 in the capital stock of the Edmonton District Railway Company.

Whereas, a petition signed by 141 electors in the number of 24 in the electoral district of the Municipality of the Town of Edmonton, entitled to vote on by-laws requiring the assent of the electors, has been presented to the Municipal Council of the said Municipality for the passing and due ratification of a by-law to authorize the Municipality of the Town of Edmonton to subscribe for shares to the amount of $50,000.00 in the capital stock of the Edmonton District Railway Company;

And Whereas, the said, the Edmonton District Railway Company contemplates constructing, maintaining and operating a line of railway near to and within the Municipality, and the Municipality is, in the opinion of the Municipal Council, interested therein;

And Whereas, it is deemed expedient that the Municipality should subscribe for shares in the said, the Edmonton District Railway Company to the amount not exceeding $50,000.00, subject to such conditions as to be agreed upon between the Municipality and the Company, prior to such subscription as shall appear necessary and expedient to the Municipal Council for the protection of the interests of the said Municipality;

And Whereas, for the purpose aforesaid, it is necessary to borrow the amount of the sum to be subscribed for, either in one sum or in several sums from time to time, as it becomes necessary to pay the bills upon the stock;

And Whereas, it is expedient that the subscription money when raised shall be raised by the issue of debentures aggregating the said sum of $50,000.00, payable in twenty years, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. payable half yearly;

And Whereas, the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll, is $1,131,780.00;

And Whereas, the total amount of the existing debt of the Municipality, outside of the debt due for the current expenses of the year, is $18,510.88, incurred for local improvements, and $30,955 incurred for permanent improvements, making in the whole the sum of $49,465.88, whereof no part is in arrears;

And Whereas, it is expedient to provide for the payment of the principal of the said debentures by the creation of an equal yearly sinking fund;

And Whereas, the total amount to be raised annually by special rate for the p-y of the said debt, by means of a sinking fund as aforesaid, and the interest thereon as aforesaid, is $402,230.20;

And Whereas, the annual special rate on the dollar as being sufficient to pay the said interest and to create the said equal yearly sinking fund for the payment of the said debt is 2-10 mills;

Therefore, the Mayor and Council of the Municipality of the Town of Edmonton in council assembled, enact as follows:

1. This By-law is to take effect on the first day of June, 1896.
2. The Mayor and Clerk of the Municipality are hereby authorized to issue debentures of the Municipality to the aggregate amount of $50,000.00, payable within twenty years from the day of the date on which this By-law takes effect, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable half yearly; such debentures to be payable at the office of the Treasurer of the Municipality of the Town of Edmonton, and to have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.
3. For the purpose of paying the amount which shall be required to be raised annually for the payment of the said interest and creating the equal yearly sinking fund to set apart for the payment of the principal sum of $50,000.00, a special rate of 2-10 mills on the dollar, over and above all other rates and taxes, shall be levied in the same manner and at the same time as the general Municipal taxes, upon the whole rateable property in the Municipality, in 1896, and for the period of twenty years, during which the said debentures shall be current.
4. The said debentures, when so issued as aforesaid, shall be deposited with the Treasurer of the Municipality, and the same, or the proceeds thereof, shall be by him delivered to the Edmonton District Railway Company, only after the passing of, and according to the provisions of a by-law to be hereafter passed by the Municipal Council in that behalf, confirming an agreement to be made between the Municipality and the said Company on behalf of the Municipality, and the Edmonton District Railway Company.

That, on the 26th day of May, 1896, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of the Town Clerk, Edmonton, is hereby fixed as the day, place and hour for taking the votes of the electors for and against this By-law.

And Whereas, Arthur G. Randall is hereby appointed Returning Officer and St. George Jellett, Deputy Returning Officer to take the votes at the said time and place.
